Travel Grants to Learned Societies' Meetings

CPSA-Annual General Meeting, Université de Montréal, Montréal, Québec, May 31, June 1 and 2, 1985.

The Canadian Political Science Association receives a travel grant from The Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada to assist members to come to the annual meeting from distant places. These funds are particularly designed to help participating younger members or those participants whose university may be unable to help them defray their costs. They are all apportioned before the meetings take place.

The assumption remains that established assistant, associate, and full professors who are participating as paper-givers, discussants, or chairpersons will be subsidized by their own university. At the date of the final allocation of grants (approximately May 1 of each year) any funds not used by participants will be allocated to junior non-participating members of the Association. We stress this point to planners of the programme who must inform participants of these deadlines.

To be considered, requests for travel funds must reach The Secretary-Treasurer, Canadian Political Science Association, University of Ottawa, Ottawa, Canada K1N 6N5 by April 15, 1985.

Your letter of application must state: (1) that you have approached your own institution for funds; (2) the amount of any partial grants you expect to receive from other sources than the CPSA; (3) your academic rank; (4) whether or not you will be participating in the programme.

Indemnité de déplacement pour les conférences des sociétés savantes.

ACSP-Réunion annuelle générale, Université de Montréal, Montréal, Québec (31 mai, 1 et 2 juin, 1985)

L'Association canadienne de science politique reçoit des fonds du Conseil de recherches en sciences humaines du Canada pour couvrir les frais de déplacement des membres résidant loin de la conférence. Ces allocations sont plus particulièrement destinées aux membres-participants les plus jeunes ainsi qu'à ceux parmi eux dont l'université ne peut indemniser le déplacement. Les bénéficiaires seront tous désignés avant la réunion.

On a tout lieu de croire que les professeurs qui participeront, soit comme conférenciers, rapporteurs ou présidents, seront indemnisés par leur université. Vers le 1^{er} mai de chaque année, lors de l'allocation définitive des fonds, tout argent non utilisé sera alloué aux jeunes membres de l'Association qui ne participeront pas comme conférenciers, rapporteurs ou présidents. Nous soulignons ce point aux organisateurs du programme qui doivent aviser les participants de la date limite.

Prière d'adresser toute demande d'allocation au Secrétaire-trésorier, Association canadienne de science politique, Université d'Ottawa, Ottawa, Canada K1N 6N5, avant le 15 avril 1985.

Votre lettre de demande doit mentionner: (1) que vous avez sollicité une allocation de votre université; (2) le montant de toute allocation que vous pensez recevoir par ailleurs; (3) votre titre académique; (4) si vous allez participer activement à la conférence (présentation d'une communication...).

Board of Directors

Universite d'Ottawa

November 24, 25, 1985

The Board met on the last Saturday and Sunday of November. It was an active two days in which, beyond its normal business, it welcomed several guests: President Gérard Hébert, Social Science Federation of Canada, Carmen Carroll of the Public Archives of Canada and English Language Secretary of The Canadian Historical Association, Donald C. Rowat (Carleton), former president of the Association and expert on questions of access to information, Profs. Michael Stein (McMaster) and John Trent (Ottawa), and Prof. David Elkins (UBC).

The Board heard reports from the Directors of its various major programmes: Profs. Herman Bakvis and Grace Skogstad represented The Canadian Journal of Political Science; Prof. Allan Tupper, "The Bulletin", Prof. André Bernard forwarded his Programme Committee report; Prof. Fred Fletcher presented his for OLIP; Prof. Robert J. Jackson, Director, was unable to be present.

The Board made a number of appointments: Prof. Allan Tupper was appointed to a second, three-year, term at "The Bulletin"; Prof. Fred Fletcher was appointed to his second term as OLIP Director. It was agreed to ask a former president of the Association to act as official scrutineer to the 1985 elections, the need being to provide for this function until the Constitutional Committee could bring a recommendation as to how this might continue to be handled internally for the future.

Martha Fletcher (Govt. of Ontario), agreed to extend her earlier mandate (to look at the role of non-university-based political scientists), broadening it to consider the whole question of how membership might be increased to counteract the pressures of the new Council funding programme for administration which now looked only at head-count and no longer at programme-richness.

Note was taken of honours that had come to two longstanding members of the Association: Douglas Verney (York) was the 1984 recipient of the Jules Léger Award. Guy Gosselin (Laval) and CPSA/ACSP-SqSp representative to UNESCO was elected to the Executive of that organisation.

President Holsti had written to Dean William Badour of the University of Ottawa (and former Association Vice-President) to thank his university for its helpful support of the Association. The Board recognized the special demands placed on the two Ottawa universities in providing a home for the Association and appreciated the warm helpfulness of their support.

The major items dealt with at these meetings are outlined below in terms of the Motions passed by the Board over the two-day period:

With the Constitutional Committee preparing its work for receipt by the Board in Summer 1985, the following was carried:

MOTION:

That, as a matter of principle, all appointments not specified in the Constitution be for three years, renewable for another three.

That, at the end of the second three-year term, the Executive or a search committee appointed by it for that purpose, undertake a formal review.

That the formal review process would not preclude reappointment but that there would not as a matter of course be reappointment.

That where a reappointment was made to exceed the six-year period it be for a further three-year term, at the end of which the formal review process would again apply.

That the matter of how questions of leave within terms of appointment be interpreted be left to the discretion of the Executive.

Two internationally-oriented matters were dealt with as follows:

MOTION:

That The Canadian Political Science Association agrees to ask La Société québécoise to join it in sponsoring the October 1986 meeting of the Executive Committee of the International Political Science Association at Ottawa, a round table "Beyond Current Political Philosophy/Envers le dépassement de la philosophie actuelle", to be held following the meeting itself.

MOTION:

That the Association sponsor the Yugoslav Workshop on the two following conditions:

1. that all workshops be organised to protect the Association's concerns for academic openness and freedom.
2. that the role of the Secretariat be specifically limited to (1) support of the Executive in its task of appointing the Selection Committee, and (2) the servicing of the Selection Committee by disseminating the call for applications and (3) the subsequent receiving of applications for forwarding to the Selection Committee.

The Association received a letter from Prof. Jacques Lévêille (UQAM) forwarding to it a Motion passed by the departmental committee at his university: "L'Assemblée départementale mandate le directeur du département pour écrire au SPUQ, à la SQSP et à la CPSA pour les mettre au courant de la situation et les presser d'intervenir dans le dossier Mandel."

MOTION:

That a Committee of two Board members be established to study the original CPSA Motion, in the light of the relevant CAUT and Quebec Human Rights Commissions documents and to make to the May Board meeting some recommendations to serve as a basis for discussion.

Profs. Michael Stein (McMaster) and John Trent (Ottawa) brought to the Board on their behalf and that of Prof. André Donneur (UQAM) a State of the Art project, proposing that the Association join the SqSp in publishing it as a special issue of The Canadian Journal of Political Science.

MOTION:

That the Executive Committee structure a Committee comprising one member of the Board, a representative from the SqSp, and chaired by a senior member of the political science community, to study the feasibility, including ways and means if appropriate, of publishing a volume on the state of the art of political science in Canada.

The Board focussed on SSHRCC-related items as part of the watching brief of the Chandler/McRoberts Committee. Prof. David Elkins was welcomed by the Board and, at its request, had prepared a paper on the subject of peer review, for discussion by the meeting.

(The paper is presented in its entirety at the end of this item).*

MOTION:

That President Kal Holsti forward the Elkins document to Council as an expression of Board policy on the question of peer review.

Other issues, among them the track record/project question as related to research grants, were passed on to Profs. Chandler and McRoberts, so that they might prepare documentation to guide Board discussion at the meeting of May 30. The Board was most particularly sympathetic to Council's problems in finding assessors and agreed to urge to members the importance of cooperating with Council in this key way.

The one remaining substantive piece of business was that Prof. Holsti agreed to write to the Canadian Historical Association suggesting that, rather than mount its own committee in the important area of access to information questions, the Canadian Political Science Association would like to be kept informed of the CHA Committee's progress and, indeed, if the CHA would think that appropriate, would be happy to cooperate in some formal way.

* THE EVALUATION OF APPLICATIONS

We believe that evaluation of applications should continue to involve scholars active in the field. Peer review, however, has several different meanings; and the exact form it should take may be varied according to circumstances. For example, graduate fellowships, Leave Fellowships, and research grants may require somewhat different procedures.

In the case of graduate fellowships, some assessment by faculty who have taught the student and/or by a Department committee seems essential. Grades have different meanings in different universities and fields, and so faculty opinion serves to put them in an interpretable frame of reference.

Leave Fellowships may be a case where less peer review -- in the sense of scholarly assessment letters -- could be acceptable. Colleagues who have served on the selection committees report that virtually all letters have been strongly positive; thus decisions have apparently been made on the basis of project descriptions, track record, or other (unknown) factors. Of course, selection committees composed of peers are a form of peer review, and thus many applicants might accept a situation in which no letters of evaluation are sought. In that case, however, it might be beneficial to allow a slightly more detailed description of the project. The dilemma, of course, is apparent: The more detailed the project description, the more one needs scholarly appraisal of its merits and potential. If Leave Fellowship applications become indistinguishable in their length and detail from small research grants, the procedures of evaluation will also need to be similar.

Research grants (including Major Grants and Strategic Grants as well) pose the greatest challenge. The problem in recent years has been a decline in the response rate to Council requests for assessments, partly because Council no longer pays assessors (except for Major Grants) and partly because of the greatly increased number of applications. Once received, however, these evaluations are useful and informative. They must not be abandoned under any circumstances. Instead, as an association we feel some obligation to try to encourage our members to accept their responsibility to write such evaluations.

Some have argued that the establishment of Adjudication Boards obviates the need for letters of evaluation from independent scholars. It is true that the adjudicators are peers, and this is therefore one form of peer review. None of the Adjudication Boards relevant to Political Science applications, however, can be large enough to encompass representatives from all fields of the discipline. Their judgements must continue to be based on as much information as possible from scholars who are experts in the same field as the applicant. In many cases, fewer awards can be made than are assessed favourably, leaving a crucial role for adjudicators. This in no way supports an argument that the adjudicators could operate effectively without any assessments. Furthermore, one result of the expert scholarly assessments concerns the adequacy of budget requests: a good assessor can help adjudicators trim budgets so that more applications can be at least partially funded. This allows researchers to request funding in future periods on the basis of some progress, facilitating the work of assessors and of adjudicators.

A PROFILE OF YOUR BOARD

Over the period 1975-1984 the following was the pattern of regional representation on The Board of Directors of the Association:

Ontario	51.6%
Québec	13.9%
Prairies	7.0%
B.C.	11.8%
Atlantic Region	15.7%

21.2% of those elected were women.

Another fact, and one of which you cannot be so proud:

The numbers participating in the election has never exceeded 30%.
