SIMULATING LOCAL POLITICS

A lunchtime caucus and workshop session, conducted by

Christopher Leo (Winnipeg)

Using a newly-developed simulation (Entitled 'Winnipeg's Core Area Initiative') as an example, this session will discuss how simulation can be used in a university classroom: the purposes that simulations can and cannot serve, how to conduct them, problems to look for and avoid, and the place of simulations in the learning process. The session should interest both those who have used simulation exercises, and those who have not.
